

sensaskin

pro-biotic skin care

What the blogs say about Probiotics – no. 2

Eczema. A Healthy Breakthrough, by Alexander Angelov, M.D.

Outside Probiotic Help For The Skin

Since most eczema skin has higher ratios of Staphylococcus aureus germs on the outside surface compared to healthy skin, here's a novel strategy.

Fight harmful staph germs by applying a probiotic skin preparation directly to the effected skin.

Lactobacillus acidophilus bacteria applied in cream form will bring soothing relief to damaged skin while helping new skin cells to grow back in a healthy manner.

You'll be amazed at the fast results.

Also, skin thinning will not be a problem when you use a good probiotic cream containing lots of friendly bacteria in place of a topical cortisone preparation.

Balancing and reinforcing inside digestive forces as well as bringing soothing factors to new skin on the outside is the dynamic, new millennium approach to conquering disturbing and painful skin problems characteristic of eczema.

http://www.eczema.net/angelove%27s_eczema_article.html

A note about Sensaskin: Sensaskin manufactures a soothing range of products that are formulated to help relieve irritated, inflamed and sensitive skin. We have developed a unique system of culturing herbal products for inclusion in our range. We believe our probiotic methodology is in fact superior to the use of simple Lactobacillus acidophilus as described in the article above.

Sensaskin is currently (January, 2009) not registered with the Therapeutic Goods Administration and is therefore, not authorised to claim any medical benefit from the use of its products.

Sensaskin 108 Bridge St Toowoomba Qld 4350 Australia 61-7-46321153